EXPERT DECLARATION OF LEIGHTON KU

LEIGHTON KU declares pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746:

1. I have personal knowledge of and could testify in Court concerning the following statements of fact.
2. I am a Professor of Health Policy and Management and Director of the Center for Health Policy Research at the Milken Institute School of Public Health, George Washington University, in Washington, DC. I have attached my Curriculum Vitae as Exhibit A to this Declaration.
3. I am a nationally known health policy researcher with over twenty-five years of experience. I have conducted substantial research about immigrant health and about health care and costs. I have authored or co-authored more than a dozen articles and reports about immigrant health issues, including articles in peer-reviewed journals such as Health Affairs and American Journal of Public Health, as well as scholarly reports published by diverse non-profit organizations including the Social Science Research Network, the Migration Policy Institute, the Cato Institute and the Commonwealth Fund. I have testified before the U.S. Senate Finance Committee about immigrant health issues and provided analyses and advice on immigrant health to various state governments and non-governmental organizations.

4. I have expertise in health and public policy and in quantitative and economic data analysis.

I have conducted quantitative analyses for most of my career, including analyses for a federal agency, two think tanks, and now at a university. I have taught statistical analysis and research methods at the graduate school level for over twenty-five years, training hundreds of graduate students. I have authored or co-authored more than 100 papers in peer-reviewed journals and hundreds of other reports, most of which were quantitative analyses. I have consulted with the Congressional Budget Office, the Department of Health and Human Services and numerous federal and state agencies.

5. I have served as a health expert in various immigration-related federal court cases. I provided expert declarations about the effects of terminating Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals on health insurance coverage and states in New York v. Trump and in Texas v. United States.¹ In September 2019, I provided three expert declarations regarding public health effects of the Department of Homeland Security's "public charge" rule in federal cases in the Northern District of California and the Southern District of New York.² In May 2020, I provided an expert declaration on the impact of paid leave amid the coronavirus pandemic in New York v. Department of Labor in the Southern District of New York.³ In July 2020, I provided an expert declaration in Gomez v. Trump (regarding a Presidential Proclamation about limiting entry of immigrants in light of the COVID-19 pandemic) in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.⁴ In 2020, I wrote an expert declaration in New York v. Trump (regarding the health harm of postal service delays) in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.⁵ I wrote an expert declaration in Texas v. Department of Homeland Security, on behalf of intervenors in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Victoria Division, regarding the Cuba, Haiti, Nicaragua and Venezuela parole program.⁶ Most recently, I authored a declaration in Texas v. Biden on behalf of intervenors in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, regarding the Central American Minors parole program.⁷ I have not provided testimony in any other court cases in the past four years.

6. I also have knowledge of health insurance and employment through my role as a voluntary (unpaid, appointed) Executive Board member for the District of Columbia's Health Benefits Exchange Authority, which governs the District's health insurance marketplace formed under the federal Affordable Care Act. This includes oversight of health insurance for small businesses as well as individual health insurance in the District of Columbia.

7. I have a PhD in Health Policy from Boston University (1990) and Master of Public Health and Master of Science degrees from the University of California at Berkeley (1979). Prior to becoming a faculty member at George Washington University, I was on the staff of the Urban Institute and the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities.
8. I have been engaged by counsel for the Proposed Intervenors in this case to evaluate the Plaintiff States' assertions in Texas v. Department of Homeland Security, filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Tyler Division, that the federal government's Keeping Families Together Parole in Place ("KFT") process will lead to significant expenditures on healthcare programs by Texas. The lawsuit challenges the KFT process as set forth in the Department of Homeland Security's Notice of Implementation of the Keeping Families Together Process.⁸ I understand from Proposed Intervenors that the States seek to prove injury to the state of Texas only. As such, my analysis is focused on KFT parolees in Texas. I will receive $1500 as an honorarium for my expert analysis.

Plaintiff States' Claims Regarding Health Harm Posed by the KFT Program

9. I have reviewed documents the Plaintiff States provided in their claims related to healthcare costs in Texas. In their Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order (ECF No. 3 at p. 46) and Combined Motion for Preliminary Injunction and Stay of Agency Action, Motion for Summary Judgment, and Trial Brief (ECF No. 79 at p.57), the Plaintiff States assert that Texas sustains harms because it funds three healthcare programs that cover undocumented immigrants, including the Texas Emergency Medicaid Program, the Texas Family

⁸ Implementation of Keeping Families Together ("KFT FRN"), 89 Fed. Reg. 67459 (Aug. 20, 2024).

Violence Program, and the Texas Children's Health Insurance Program ("CHIP") Perinatal Program.

10. Under federal law, Medicaid programs are required to reimburse emergency care providers, such as hospitals, for uncompensated emergency care received by poor individuals who are ineligible for regular Medicaid coverage under the state's eligibility rules. This principally includes impoverished immigrants who are ineligible for Medicaid because they are undocumented or are otherwise not eligible under the state's Medicaid eligibility rules, which may include some legally present immigrants whom the state has not elected to cover as "qualified immigrants." In addition, some U.S. citizens or legal permanent residents may be counted under this category if they do not report their citizenship or immigration status.
11. The Texas Family Violence Program is a state-funded program that provides help getting medical care, as well as temporary housing and services like transportation or training, for those who have been victims of family violence. There are no income or immigration status requirements, but some beneficiaries may be undocumented immigrants.
12. The CHIP Perinatal Program provides insurance coverage to unborn children of women with low income but who are ineligible for Medicaid or CHIP because of their immigration status. Again, this includes undocumented immigrants and legally present immigrants whom the state does not cover, it and could include citizens or legal permanent residents who do not report their immigration or citizenship status.
13. The Plaintiffs specifically claim that if KFT did not exist, some (although they do not estimate how many) immigrants who may apply for KFT would leave the country and therefore the state would not have to bear some of the expenses for care of undocumented immigrants. This strikes me as completely speculative, given the nature of the people who would be eligible for the KFT process. As explained in the Federal Register notice, to be eligible for KFT parole, an applicant must be a noncitizen spouse of a U.S. citizen “who ha[s] been continuously physically present in the United States for a minimum of ten years” or an eligible stepchild of a U.S. citizen.⁹ In addition, the person must have no disqualifying criminal history, be found not to pose a national security, public safety or border security threat, and merit parole in place as a matter of discretion.¹⁰ The Department of Homeland Security estimates that the median time that a KFT-eligible spouse has been in the U.S. is 23 years.¹¹ Thus, those who would be eligible for KFT have already resided in the U.S. for at least ten years and typically far longer. It strains credulity to believe that given their long history of residence in the U.S. and marriage to a U.S. citizen spouse, barring people from receiving KFT parole—something they do not now have and have not had all these years they have already lived in the U.S.—would cause them to now leave the country and be separated from the family members, jobs, and lives they have built up.

14. Affidavits filed by Texas from Susan Bricker of the Texas Health and Hospitals Commission (ECF Nos. 3-3, 79-4) estimate the cost of medical services provided by Texas to undocumented immigrants, which is linked to the state’s claim of harm. However, neither Ms. Bricker, nor other briefs filed by the Plaintiffs, provide any evidence that these financial costs would be lessened if the KFT process did not exist. Thus, they provide no basis for the claim of harm that Texas asserts. In fact, there is substantial reason to doubt the validity or accuracy of Ms. Bricker’s estimates about cost of services provided to undocumented individuals. Only in August 2024 did Texas Governor Greg Abbott issue a requirement that Texas hospitals collect and submit documentation to the state about the costs of care provided to undocumented immigrants.¹² Since such data did not exist prior to this executive order, it is hard to truly assess the accuracy of Ms. Bricker's estimates. And, more importantly, those who are granted parole under the KFT process would no longer be undocumented and therefore the KFT process would reduce the burdens of uncompensated care received by undocumented immigrants in Texas, contrary to the claims made by the Plaintiffs.

15. There is a much stronger reason to believe that the KFT process will reduce the costs of care provided to undocumented immigrants in Texas related to emergency Medicaid, CHIP or other programs and therefore lower the state's financial costs. As a result of receiving parole through the KFT process, many eligible noncitizens would also then be able to apply for and receive work authorization.¹³ Analyses provided by the Department of Homeland Security as part of its regulatory impact assessment indicate that KFT is expected to provide work authorization to between 234,500 and 502,500 individuals, for an estimated average of 385,500 legally employed persons.¹⁴ A majority of these legally employed persons would then be able to get private health insurance coverage and would no longer need emergency Medicaid, CHIP or Family Violence coverage. The Migration Policy Institute estimates that about 15.7% of undocumented immigrants in the U.S. reside in Texas,¹⁵ so we estimate that KFT would increase the number of immigrants who can work legally in Texas by about 60,500. This would have substantial economic, social and health benefits for Texas. Not only will it improve the status of the immigrants, but it will strengthen local economies and increase tax revenues that the state collects, while also lowering the Medicaid, CHIP and Family Violence Program costs now spent for undocumented immigrants.

16. Data from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics indicates that 66 percent of full-time workers and 46 percent of part-time workers have employer-provided medical insurance.¹⁶ If the number of legally employed immigrants in Texas increases by about 60,500, then this could increase the number with employer-sponsored private insurance by about 34,000. This, in turn, would substantially decrease the number of immigrants who would need emergency Medicaid, CHIP or other public benefits in Texas. That is, evidence suggests that KFT would reduce the financial costs of medical care for undocumented immigrants borne by the state of Texas, contrary to the state's assertion that it will increase its burdens.

17. If, as estimated above, the KFT process increases the number of immigrants with employer-sponsored health insurance by 34,000 in Texas, we can roughly estimate that this would lower the state's costs of healthcare services for undocumented immigrants by $28 million per year, rather than increasing the costs. The basis for this calculation is as follows. Susan Bricker's analysis (ECF Nos. 3-3, 79-4) estimated that Texas spent $128.9 million in caring for undocumented immigrants through Emergency Medicaid or the CHIP Perinatal

¹⁵ Migration Policy Institute, Profile of the Unauthorized Population: Texas, <https://www.migrationpolicy.org/data/unauthorized-immigrant-population/state/TX>.

Program in 2023 (although, as stated supra in paragraph 14, there are reasons to doubt the accuracy of these estimates because the state did not require documentation about legal status until there was an August 2024 executive order by the Governor¹⁷). Ms. Bricker did not estimate how many undocumented immigrants received these services, however. The Migration Policy Institute estimates there are 1.7 million undocumented immigrants in Texas.¹⁸ My analyses of data from the 2022 Medical Expenditure Panel Survey¹⁹—a nationally representative survey of medical care conducted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services—indicates that about 10 percent of immigrants use any emergency medical care in a year (compared to 13 percent of native-born citizens using emergency care). Thus, if I estimate that 10 percent of the 1.7 million undocumented immigrants in Texas received services under emergency Medicaid or CHIP Perinatal, then about 170,000 undocumented immigrants may have used these services, with an average cost of around $758 per person ($128.9 million divided by 170,000). In that case, reducing the number of undocumented immigrants who might receive those benefits by 34,000, as computed above, would lower the estimated costs for emergency Medicaid or CHIP Perinatal benefits borne by the state of Texas by roughly $28 million per year. While this is a rough estimate of how much Texas would save because of the KFT process, the bottom line is that the process would lower cost burdens for the state of Texas, not increase them.

18. In addition, those who are paroled by the KFT process but who do not receive work authorization or do not have employer-sponsored health insurance would be eligible for insurance coverage under the federal Health Insurance Marketplace (healthcare.gov) as “lawfully present” immigrants,²⁰ including parolees, are eligible for federal tax credits that will help cover a portion of their Marketplace insurance premiums and make insurance more affordable. Marketplace health insurance coverage is funded by the federal tax credits and by premiums paid by the beneficiaries, so states do not contribute funding for Marketplace coverage. Thus, this too will lower any potential costs for uncompensated health care for undocumented immigrants in Texas.

I declare under penalty of perjury and under the laws of the United States that the foregoing is true and correct.

Summary

Leighton Ku, PhD, MPH, is a professor of health policy and management at the George Washington University (GW), with a secondary appointment in public policy and administration. He is a nationally known health policy and health services scholar with more than 30 years of experience. He has examined topics such as national and state health reforms, access to care for low-income populations, Medicaid, preventive services, the health care safety net, cost and benefits of health services, and immigrant health. He has authored or co-authored more than 100 peer-reviewed articles and 200 policy briefs and other translational reports. While he is primarily a quantitative researcher, he had used diverse methods including policy analysis, legal research, cost-benefit analysis, mixed methods research, case studies, focus groups, survey research, multivariate analyses, randomized experiments, sibling studies, propensity score methods and difference-in-difference studies. He directs the Center for Health Policy Research, a multidisciplinary research center, which includes physicians, attorneys, economists, health management and policy experts and others, with more than 20 faculty and dozens of staff; it has a research portfolio in excess of $20 million. He has been principal investigator for a large number of studies with support from the National Institutes of Health, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, the Commonwealth Fund and Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and other sources. In the course of his career at GW, the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities and the Urban Institute, he has worked with federal and state executive and legislative agencies, health care organizations, advocates and others in research, technical assistance, strategic advice and advocacy. As a faculty, he has taught research methods, econometrics and policy analysis at the graduate level for more than 25 years and guided dozens of students through dissertations and other research. As a member of his community, he helped establish and guide the District of Columbia's Health Benefits Exchange Authority as a founding member of its Executive Board.

* I use the traditional term “chair,” although alternative terminology is that I was the “director” or “advisor”, the faculty who worked most closely with the student and directed the dissertation.

 In these cases, I was not the chair because I was also their supervisor (to prevent conflict of interest), but I was really their primary advisor.
